Name Amy Howard Year 8

Reason for the award:

'Amy is a very positive role model and a very able musician who always represents the school during open evenings and school events. She was the first in her tutor group to achieve the 'Reward and Recognition' certificate for her independent learning. She is willing to help everyone and even created a very good resource for revision that was given to everyone in her class. Amy is very engaged and enthusiastic in all her lessons. A very well deserved winner of this award.'

Name Romina Brown Year 9

Reason for the award:

'Romina's end of year 9 results were all grade 6 and above, her data window report is all excellent and outstanding. She is a model student who does excellent classwork and homework in all her subjects. Her willingness to do well shines through throughout the whole school day. Romina is always a polite and incredibly well-mannered student, always ready to support and help the school community. A well-deserved winner of this award.'

Name Akshar Patel Year 13

Reason for the award:

Akshar won the Mayor of London Science Awards and has been a role model for his peers and other students in the school. His work ethic in class, independent study and the whole school community shows great commitment and enthusiasm. Akshar is committed to supporting others around then which helps to make him a well-rounded sixth form student and very deserving of this award.'

Name Ahmed Warsame Year 9

Reason for the award:

Ahmed led assemblies to all the students in the school at the end of year 7 on the importance of reading in developing skills and enjoyment. As a result he developed his confidence and ability to work with others. This led him to work with the Library to secure a visit from Dan Freedman, a children's author. the feedback from students was fantastic. In September he became form captain and has made excellent contributions to meetings. He has attended training and is developing his skills further. He is keen to develop the skills of other students further with some follow up training later on in the year so students can use this when applying for 6th for or university.

Name :Cynthia Ogbono year 9

Reason for the award:

Cynthia is a role model in her year group and has demonstrated excellent success and progress in all of her subjects. To further develop her confidence and all around contribution to the school she wrote an application to be elected onto the Enfield Youth Parliament and as a result was voted on to represent Edmonton County school. She is keen to empower young women at the school and will lead assemblies for international womens day in march. She is also keen to bring in speakers from outside of school to show how to be a successful women.

Bridgette Bempah year 9

Reason for award:

Bridgette also applied to be a member of the Enfield Youth Parliament and was very successful, representing Edmonton County. Bridgette received a subject award as well as a Phase award for "Being a role model to others academically at last years awards evening. She consistently attends and contributes to the wider school community and would like to work within the local community to improve peoples experiences.

Jack Petchey Leaders award
Congratulations to
Ms Lipparelli – Head of Design

Ms Lipparelli was nominated by her peers for a Jack Petchey Leaders award.

Reason for award:

The development of the Design department has been inspired and supported by Miss Lipparelli's dedication. Miss Lipparelli is very passionate about her work and role as a teacher and Head of the Design department and is always looking at new ways to adapt and inspire the students in her teaching. Miss Lipparelli has taken the design department to a new level of achievement and has significantly raised the profile of the subject across the school. The update of the subject in our school has increased considerably when other schools have seen a decline. Miss Lipparelli has sourced new projects, competitions and workshops to inspired students to look at the world and their community for inspiration, to help develop them as designers of our future. Miss Lipparelli is very well liked and respected by her peers and very worthy of this nomination.
